

Privacy Policy

Privacy protection is important to the Signal Mutual Indemnity Association Ltd. (“Signal”). In order to better protect your privacy we provide this notice explaining our online information practices. Signal does collect IP addresses and domain names of visitors for site administration purposes, such as to analyze trends and statistics. This information is used for internal purposes only.

Many of the areas of the website require registration and are password protected. These areas are intended solely for the use of Signal Members and certain approved vendors. The registration and password policy enables us to verify that you are entitled to access and use certain information, materials, and services. Further, in order to register for certain events and services you may be asked for more detailed information. This information is employed solely internally for the stated reason.

We have put in place appropriate physical, electronic, and managerial procedures to safeguard and secure the information we collect online.

At no time has or will Signal provide any such data to third parties such as marketers or advertisers.

Terms & Conditions

The information contained in this web site is provided for general information purposes only and does not constitute professional advice. Before taking any action on a specific business or legal problem, you should obtain professional advice.

Signal, its Managers, and its agents and associates disclaim any responsibility for any errors or omissions contained in any information within this web site, or any other web site linked to this web site, and for any loss, damage or liability howsoever caused arising from the use of such information by any party whatsoever.